Primary care consultations—harnessing patient engagement in tricky long term conditions: obesity, malnutrition and health

Do you use motivational interviewing in your consultations? Do you feel able to tackle the difficult issues in a 10 minutes consultation? Do you need an update in the latest information and resources?

This FREE workshop provides access to new Royal College of General Practitioners and Royal College of Nursing-endorsed modular workshop training materials, including interactive workbook with case scenarios plus slide sets for six topic presentations, available for local use.

This is a hands-on motivational interviewing workshop, covering behaviour change theory techniques as well as access to e-learning sessions, training resources and an interactive workbook from the RCGP. These techniques can be used for addressing challenging conditions such as obesity management, improving physical activity and smoking cessation. The workshop will be delivered by Dr Rachel Pryke MBBS MRCGP FRCP, NICE Fellow.
